This is a popular option at our studio!

ART THERAPY SESSIONS

It's important to dedicate some personal time to calming and meditative activities that help alleviate heavy feelings and nurture a positive attitude and outlook - even more so in light of the pandemic. I have extensive experience holding art therapy sessions and I recommend it as a restorative and mindful exercise for anyone, of any age. Art therapy sessions focus less on technique and more on creating a relaxing environment and hobby, and developing a healthy way to express and explore emotions, memories, or trauma. Please reach out to me directly if you are interested in a more healing and individualized art therapy session.

- Session length and price are determined on a case-by-case basis.
- Art therapy sessions are grounded in confidentiality and respect. Sessions will prioritize the student's comfort, dignity, and emotional well-being.
- Please take into account that I do not have official therapy training.
